

The Giant that Never Sleeps

40 Years of QAL 1967 - 2007

*"It certainly put Gladstone on the map.
I don't know what would have happened to Gladstone if QAL hadn't of come."*

Pers comm Marshall Gunston, 2007.

*"I call 'em the good ol' days.
I go through my collection of photos and colour slides. You reminisce, a tear comes to the eye and you wish you could go back to those old days."*

Pers comm Bevin Newitt, 2007.

"Gladstone will become one of the greatest industrial towns."

QAL Chairman Sir Maurice Mawby, 1967.

"The best news Gladstone has so far heard."

Chairman of the Gladstone Harbour Board, Bill Golding, 1964.

Acknowledgments:

Exhibition design and research: Queensland Alumina Limited; Melissa Case, Courtney Brown

Gladstone Regional Art Gallery & Museum: Pamela Whitlock, Lyn Lee, Bronwyn Roper.

A special thanks to past and present QAL employees, contractors and the Gladstone community for their willingness to share their memories.

Sources:

Gladstone Area Writers Group, Recollections and Reflections, Gladstone Area Promotion and Development Bureau, Gladstone, 1990.

Fitzgerald, R., From 1915 to the Early 1980s: A History of Queensland, University of Queensland Press, St Lucia, 1984.

Fogarty, J. & Woatton, N., Breakthrough: The Establishment and Development of Queensland Alumina, Hargreen Publishing Company, Melbourne, 1992.

McDonald, L., Gladstone: City That Waited, Boolarong Publications, Brisbane, 1988.

Roper, B., When QAL Came To Town: Living Through the Construction Period in Gladstone 1963 - 1967, unpublished, 2007.

Roper, B., When QAL Came To Town: Living Through the Construction Years in Gladstone 1964-1967, Queensland Alumina Limited, 2007.