

Media release

12 August 2020

QAL employees donate more than $330,000 to CPL – Choice, Pasion, Life.

A 30-year partnership has seen individual Queensland Alumina Limited team members donate $330,891 towards Queensland's leading disability support provider, CPL – Choice, Passion, Life, through its workplace giving program.

The support of the QAL team has helped CPL purchase therapy resources and equipment, improve community centres throughout Queensland, and create a host of other life-changing opportunities for children and adults with a disability.

QAL Redside Manager Simon Rice said "Our workplace giving program is an opt-in scheme that allows QAL team members to donate as little as $1 per pay cycle to selected charities using their post-tax salary.

"We have partnerships with 10 different charities and at the end of each year, QAL matches these donations dollar-for-dollar.

"We're proud to support organisations like CPL, who provide critical services within our community."

CPL Fundraising Relationship Manager Carlee Hay said the relationship with QAL has allowed CPL to continue supporting people with disabilities right across Queensland and New South Wales.

"This partnership is so far-reaching. It's ensured CPL delivers the very best support, technology and understanding possible, so clients can grow beyond expectations and do amazing things with their lives," she said.

~END~

About CPL:

- CPL provides over 173,000 hours of support in the community each month to more than 10,000 clients with disabilities in Queensland and Northern New South Wales.

CPL In-home and Community Coordinator Vernetta Perrett and QAL Redside Manager Simon Rice